

Abstract

The invention is a method of a sheet (134) of thermoplastic material between upper and lower molds (102, 104), heating the sheet to a plastic state using electromagnetic radiation and molding the sheet. The molds (102, 104) are preferably formed of silicon and 5 infrared radiation is preferably used to heat the sheet (134).

100473200.014402